Alitalia selects Goldenware Travel Technologies
for Electronic Timetables

Flight Schedules on the latest electronic platforms are available to Alitalia Customers in multiple languages.

Nashua, NH (November 8, 2004) – Alitalia, has selected Goldenware Travel Technologies LLC to publish flight schedules for Alitalia in Italian and English.

The first sets of products are available for download from www.alitalia.com providing current, interactive mobile electronic tools in Italian and English. These solutions will initially be available in a downloadable version for Windows based Personal Computers and in Adobe PDF format.

In a statement, a spokesperson for Alitalia said, “We are excited to provide our customers with valuable travel planning tools that they can use on their favorite device and in their local language. Localization is very important and Goldenware’s software architecture allowed us to meet local market needs.” Goldenware’s proven track record in creating innovative technological solutions enables us to provide our customers with powerful tools that display the frequency, flexibility and global breadth of Alitalia.

Matthew Goldworm, President of Goldenware Travel Technologies says, “By offering Goldenware’s leading edge solutions and the flight schedules from Alitalia, the business traveler will now be able to access flight schedule information 24/7 from anywhere they want on their platform of choice in their language.”
